

Hello!

Are you struggling to stay motivated and focused due to the pandemic?

We have coached individuals despite the pandemic decided to take the leap to change careers, start successful businesses, or start new jobs.

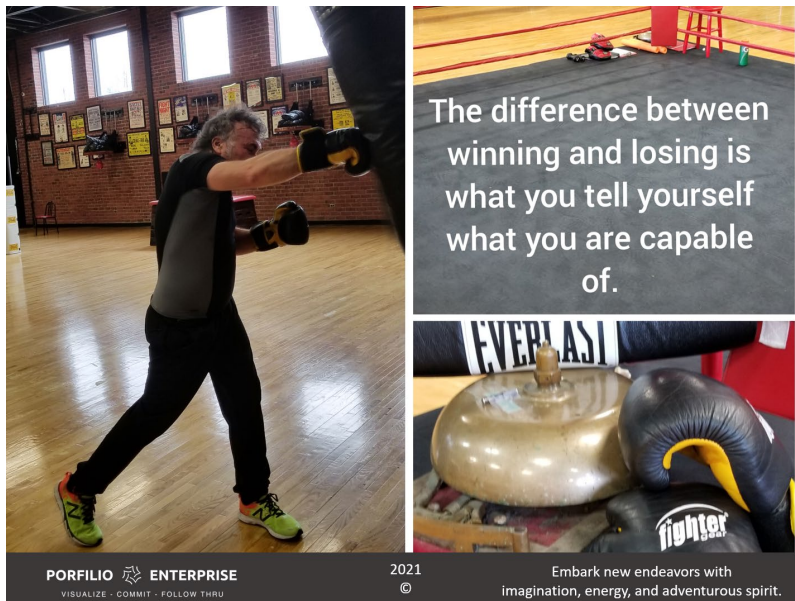

We motivate and inspire Heroes!

My dear mentor said to me early in my career:

“If you cannot lead yourself and believe in yourself; How can you lead others and have them believe in you?”

Whether it is connecting and leading your team, or connecting with your client and growing your business.

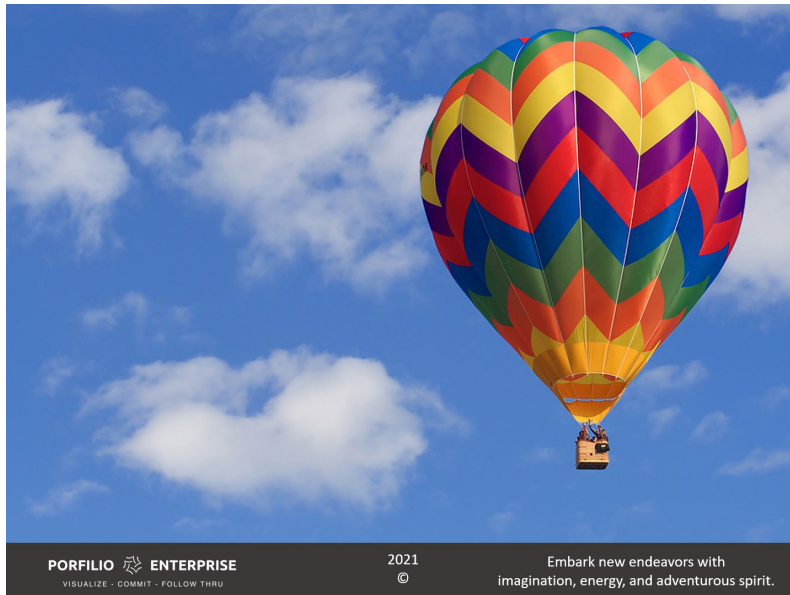

Athletes know:

The difference between winning and losing is what you tell yourself what you are capable of.

Let's embrace 2021 with clarity and focus.

Be the hero of Your Story.

Do you dream of: taking your life,
your business,
your career to new heights?

Is it time for you to Start your new business?
Change career?
Get a promotion?

Make more money; increase your business?

Then it's time to define your vision, and set goals to achieve it.

The Power of “C”

Certainty Confidence Conviction
Can do

Be certain and confident of your self and your abilities and present yourself with conviction and “can do” attitude towards Success!

You are the Super Hero of Your story!

In the past year, I have coached people that in spite of the pandemic decided to take the leap to start new careers,
new businesses and
new jobs

Tony Porfilio

Member of the International
Coach Federation (ICF)

Project Management Institute, and

World Association of Business Coaches.

My super power is the ability to connect with people, gain their trust, and have them feel empowered by their super powers to fulfill their purpose.

I have 30 years' experience working with industry experts delivering solutions, setting up businesses, coaching their leaders and teams.

Worked as Director of Professional Services with several system integration companies, software development companies and as an independent management consultant across many industries in North America.

I have coached individuals through career changes, start a new business, or moving to a new job empowering them through mindset and presence keeping them focused and accountable.

Passionate about leadership development and using left brain and right brain, and the magic of human dynamics in team development and delivery.

What People Are Saying

I didn't have a clear understanding of my thought process surrounding my business and the limitations I was putting on myself. After only 3 sessions, I felt significantly more empowered and confident leading me to more open doors. I recommend Tony to anyone looking for a coach to elevate positive mindset while helping to pave their road to success.

... Melisa (Nutrition Coach)

I was conflicted with my mind and my heart in regards to my career change. I felt I was swimming against the tide. With each session and his ability to tap into my emotions and help me question "the why" of my thoughts, I was able to continue on with the path I wanted to go, set measurable goals for myself and hold myself accountable.

...Vanesa (Fitness Coach)

My biggest gain was understanding that I have capabilities that I did not recognize were there. The most valuable thing about the process is having the coach ask me to explain myself. My feelings, emotions, preconceived notions, etc. This allowed me to get a deeper understanding of what was reality versus my mindset misleading me

What People Say

What People Are Saying

Some people inspire you even when they are not around, Tony is one of those people for me. Tony is an amazing person, a very knowledgeable professional with extra ordinary public speaking and relation building skill. A star consistently. He took mentoring and coaching me as one of his personal goals. True sign of a Leader.

Ratan (Founder & CEO, Consulting Firm)

Tony sets a very high standard for himself and then sticks to it. He always delivers and he'll push himself well above the call of duty to get things done. Tony is also a master at motivating his project team to also go above and beyond in order to satisfy the customer. He's an expert in the art of leading by influence.
